

Académie d'architecture
Residency Program at the Cité internationale des arts
Call for applications for 2027

The French Académie d'architecture is supporting professionals and researchers from various countries, namely emerging profiles, by providing residencies at the Cité internationale des arts in Paris, located at the heart of the historical city. This program aims at helping them in their career by creating links and allowing them to develop a personal project.

The Académie d'architecture is an NGO gathering about 350 members: renowned architects from France and abroad as well as related specialists from the urban, architectural and heritage sector. With its rich history since 1840 under the name of "Société centrale des architectes", the Académie d'architecture is aimed at promoting quality for architecture, urban planning and heritage as well as conservation of archives and cultural dissemination.

The Cité internationale des arts, the world's largest arts residence, has been bringing together more than 300 artists of all origins and generations in the heart of Paris since 1965, giving them the opportunity to carry out a creative or research project in all disciplines. The Cité internationale des arts provides them with a working environment conducive to creation while open to encounters with professionals from the cultural field. Residents benefit from tailored support from the Cité internationale des arts team.

Benefits of residency

Residents will be able to take part in activities of both institutions, since the Académie d'architecture and the Cité internationale des arts are partners in this program.

Artists can benefit from a monthly support program, networking opportunities and events organised by the partners of the residency program.

At the Académie d'architecture

Residents are invited to all the public events of the Académie (conferences, round tables, exhibitions, etc.). They could also be invited to give conferences or contribute to exhibitions. They have access on demand to the extremely rich archives of the Académie, recently listed as part of the National French Archives.

Residents can benefit from a designated contact person among the members of the Académie, according to their field of interest.

From the Cité internationale des arts

What makes this residence so special is that many people come from different backgrounds, countries and practices, fuelling each other and working at the same place, in the heart of Paris. During the residency, artists benefit from a support program, including visits, meetings, and a diverse cultural program (weekly open studios, exhibitions, conferences...).

Monthly fees cover the cultural and artistic offer, the support program but also the studio. All residents have a free access to WIFI and are given the "Cité card", which will grant them access to many Paris-based cultural venues for free or at preferential rates.
